Discarded 1012

Dedication

To Charles Ernest Fay '68, as our tribute to his unswerving loyalty to Alma Mater, steadfast through over a half century of effort in her behalf, in deference to his renown as a scholar, naturalist, Alpinist, and a distinguished Tufts man, whose accomplishments we would do well to emulate, and as the acknowledged patron and honorary member of the class of 1925, we do most respectfully dedicate this Jumbo Book.

FOREWORD

THE editors of this 1925 Jumbo Book have aimed to crystallize within these pages the life, the atmosphere, and the ideals of Tufts College, that their successors may strive further in behalf of the institution which embodies these activities and traditions. The aim of the 1925 Jumbo is to set forth the phases of Tufts life which have played their part in the building of men, and the creation of loyal sons, who will serve her, even after they leave her walls.

John A. Cousens

JOHN ALBERT COUSENS

A.B., LL.D., Δ T Δ, Φ B K

PRESIDENT COUSENS graduated from Tufts in 1898. A misfortune ended his college career prematurely and prevented his going to Medical School. He entered into business and later became Vice-President of the Metropolitan Coal Company of Boston.

He is director of the Brookline Trust Company, chairman of the Board of Investment of the Brookline Savings Bank, a member of the Century Club, Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Appalachian Mountain Club, Boston City Club, Exchange Club, Longwood Tennis Club, University Club, and the Commonwealth Country Club. He has given unstinted service to our college as Visitor, Trustee, member of the Finance and Executive Committees.

It was in September, 1919, that he became acting president of Tufts. In June, 1920, Mr. Cousens was elected President of the College.

Since President Cousens's inauguration the college endowment has been increased by the Jumbo Bond Campaign of 1922. The long-promised chemistry laboratory has been completed, and is one of the largest college laboratories in New England. This year construction of a fence around the quardangle was begun, and other steps taken toward realizing the President's dream of a "Tufts Beautiful."

UNDERCLASS CONTESTS

IN addition to the banquet battles, and the tug-of-war, there are organized contests between the freshman and sophomore classes. The two underelasses meet each other in football, baseball, basketball, and track. Each of these and the tug-of-war count for the possession of class flags, with right to fly them right side up.

The senior class lost this privilege in its first year, and did not succeed in keeping the class of '26 from winning theirs. The class of 1927, apparently was not hoodooed by the odd numbers, and won its flags last year. The contest now is still undecided. The freshmen won the tug-of-war, lost the football game, but carried away the basketball game. Baseball and track contests will be fought out this spring, too late for our records.

In former years, a bag rush was held which counted for flags, but this year the Underelass Rules Committee, of which F. B. Littlefield is the chairman, abolished the bag rush and made the tug-of-war over Alewife Brook count a point for flags. The frosh won.

Every fall, the Underclass Rules Committee announces an "open season," during which underclassmen try to keep their rival classes from holding the annual banquet of their class. The campus abounds in brutal assaults and high crimes. This year both banquets were successful, the frosh initiating the rare expedient of having their banquet at six-thirty in the morning. Only one banquet has failed in this generation, that of the class of 1927 last year.

THE "BODUN" TRIP

THIS famous Tufts institution has been immortalized in song, and in lurid memories of sloppy voyages in the "Governor Dingbat," and over the roads and rails to Portland. The present senior class saw its first Armistice Day in Portland, and waded through mighty slush to see the team buried under a steep score. As sophomores, the class of '25 saw a closer game with our ancient rival, but came back heartbroken with a 13-12 defeat. In 1923 Bowdoin came to the Oval and won, so it remained for this year to be the banner year in our history.

Practically all of the student body made the trip this year and was rewarded by seeing the team "come through" with a 7-6 victory. Another year must elapse before the Brown and Blue will invade Longfellow Square again.

TUFTS NIGHT

On the first Monday following fall registration, the Tufts clan gathers in Goddard Gym to break once more into the spirit and swing of Tufts activity and enthusiasm. Speakers are to be had, but the session is informal, and marks the initiation of the freshmen into the life of the Hill and the Tufts brotherhood.

THE COLLEGE MASCOT

NEARLY as famous as Princeton's Tiger and Yale's Bulldog is the Tufts college mascot, P. T. Barnum's wonder-elephant, "Jumbo." This book has been named after the "famous beast," songs have been written about him, peanuts named after him, and crowned and bald heads have flocked about his massive sides to admire his bulk and stolidity.

He was captured in Africa when but three years of age, and first publicly exhibited in Paris. In 1865, he was taken to London, to the Royal Zoological Gardens, and kept there for seventeen years. He became noted for his great size and his amiable disposition, being for years the pet of the children who visited the Garden.

In 1882 P. T. Barnum bought Jumbo for $10,000, and sent agents to England to bring him over here. A great furore was aroused throughout England, Parliament even forbidding the transportation of large animals on passenger vessels, which was calculated to prevent Barnum from shipping Jumbo. The veteran showman got around this by carrying Jumbo on a boat of his own, and the elephant soon afterward went on tour in this country.

The great elephant added to his fame later, while in Buffalo, by saving the life of a little child who had been attacked by a lion. He met his death in 1885, in St. Thomas, Canada, when he charged head-on into a moving locomotive, aiming, it is believed, to protect a baby elephant accompanying him. He stopped the engine, but suffered fatal injury. The hide of the great beast was nailed to a huge oak form, laboriously carved into a likeness, and the skeleton sent to the Natural History Museum in New York. The mounted hide was put on a special platform and taken on tour throughout the country. In 1899 it was given to Tufts, for which Barnum had built a museum. But public demand was insistent, and the elephant was taken out for a triumphant tour of Europe. The next year he returned to Tufts, and has reposed undisturbed in the Barnum Museum to this day, attracting thousands yearly to gaze upon his bulk.

WITH the season almost at an end at the time this went to press, the record of the basketball team stood eight wins and seven losses. When it is taken into consideration that three of the best basketball players Tufts ever had were lost by graduation, the season seems successful. Tufts had considerable of a reputation to maintain, with the record of the 1924 season, when only three games were lost out of a schedule of seventeen.

The New York trip, which came January 30 and 31, resulted in two victories, against the University Club and Pratt Institute. This trip has been run for several years and the Tufts team has a record of wins in that section of the country.

The season opened with an easy win over Northeastern, 31 to 19. Van French, center, Bogosian and Rosselli, forwards, and Captain Dowson and Wilson, guards, were the starting five. One of the hardest games of the season came directly on this, Wesleyan, and they won 25 to 14. Lowell Textile fell before the Jumbo five, but only after a hard battle and the next week Rhode Island State came to avenge the two defeats of last year. They won in one of the closest games of the year, 24 to 22. Rhode Island and the University of New Hampshire are the two teams that defeated Tufts twice this year.

Captain Dowson has been the most consistent guard that Tufts has had for several years. As the bulwark in the Tufts defense he takes the place of Captain Rogers of last year. On offense and defense both Bogosian and French have worked together as forwards with great results.

WHEN the first call for track was issued early in January, almost one hundred men responded to work out on the board track under the new coach, William Meanix, former Olympic hurdler and holder of a world's record. No regular indoor schedule was arranged although entries were made in the different indoor meets and one dual meet was held with Boston University early in February. The main object of the call was to develop material for the outdoor season, for which five meets had been scheduled.

Coaeh Meanix had five letter men from last year's team as a nucleus and also several good men from the freshman team. The captain, Frederie B. Littlefield, Elwin Gamage, Morgan Haynes, Edmund V. Watson, and Charles P. Bradford, were the five veterans.

The indoor meet held with Boston University showed the capabilities of the Tufts team to be great. The meet was forced, by bad weather, to last two days and on the first day Tufts won every running event. The weight events and the hurdles and high jump were left for the next day, and it was in those events that the Tufts competitors proved weak.

Of the nine events against Boston University, Tufts took five first places. Taylor won the 40-yard dash, Walsh and Slack tied for first in the mile, Bolger won the 300, Slaek the 1000, and Captain Littlefield, the 600.

WHEN the time came last spring for the baseball candidates to report in the cage, it was found that Coach Kenneth L. Nash was seriously ill and would have to be away from the team until the season was almost through. Fred Lake was selected as temporary coach, and in the face of a squad of poor material, turned out a fairly creditable team. It was a team much unlike those of a few years ago, but it did turn in six wins of the sixteen games played.

Two wins were made over the University of Maine, and Bates, Connecticut Aggies, Colby, and Springfield, were the other losers. Rain broke up both of the games scheduled with Bowdoin and also the annual alumni day game with Harvard.

It was decided not to run any spring trip and the early season games were held at the Oval during the spring vacation. Northeastern, Providence College, and Boston University, came to the Oval and departed winners and then the team went to Amherst to be defeated in a fast game 4 to 0. A win here and there made up the rest of the season. Perhaps the most interesting game at the Oval was with Bates, which was finally won by Tufts after eleven innings of tie ball.

WITH an entirely new team the Tufts tennis players went through a schedule of nine games, winning four, and tying one. Captain Hubert Dowson was the highest individual winner and his consistent playing was the feature of every match. In doubles, Dowson paired with Slack for the first team and Maddison and Livingstone made up the second.

The college tennis tournament which was run off in 1924, was won by Robert L. Nichols, after a hard battle with the team captain, Hubert W. Dowson. For 1925, the finals are yet to be played.

WRESTLING at Tufts is on the incline and the schedule arranged this year was the first formal one for a period of several years. This year it was voted to recognize wrestling as an intercollegiate sport and minor letters are to be awarded from now on. Its popularity under the regular coach, Ruggieri, who is a former Tufts wrestling captain, is great, and it promises to be one of Tufts' best sports.

THE freshmen came out on the losing end of every game, including the battle with the Sophomores, but in spite of their losses, the results of the season were a success, for much material for future varsity squads was discovered and developed.

On November 12, the freshmen lined up against the sophomores at the Oval, and took their first class defeat, losing the first competition for their flags. Although they were shut out by the sophomores, they put up a game fight. The varsity men on the sophomore team ran wild on their few chances and came through with two touchdowns, winning 13 to 0.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS

WINNING all five games of their league, and the final game between the leagues, Delta Upsilon takes possession of the interfraternity basketball trophy for the coming year. In the Brown league, the competition was close between Delta Upsilon and Delta Tau Delta, Delta Upsilon winning at the end of the season by defeating Delta Tau Delta 16 to 8. In the Blue league, Delta Phi Sigma won every game until defeated by Zeta Psi. In a play-off, of a tie between Delta Phi Sigma and Phi Epsilon Pi, the Sigs won and were the competitors of Delta Upsilon in the finals.

THE GENERAL SCORE

1923 — Won by Zeta Psi
1924 — Won by Sigma Omega Psi
1925 — Won by Delta Upsilon

DELTA UPSILON is the first winner of the new baseball shield that is to be put in competition each year. The championship must be won three years to keep permanent possession of the large shield, which has been given by the Athletic Association.

Two leagues, the Brown and the Blue, are formed as in the other interfraternity sports. Delta Upsilon went through the Brown league an undefeated team, as did Sigma Tau Alpha of the Blue league.

1928 BASKETBALL SQUAD

WINNING eleven out of the schedule of fourteen games, the freshman team completed what may be termed a very successful season. A total of 563 points were scored in the fourteen games to the opponents' 379. Coach Sample developed probably the fastest playing and passing freshman quintet ever seen at Tufts. Although the first team worked with the perfection of a machine, there were two players whose work was of exceptional quality. The captain, Robison, who played forward, and Nussbaum a guard, contributed most of the scoring, while Abrahams, another forward, was a close third.

Brown freshmen, Andover, and Worcester Academy were the three teams to defeat the freshmen, and each of these contests were won by a margin of one or two points. The freshman offense by far excelled anything seen at Tufts for several years, and the prospects for an excellent varsity next year seem good.

THE call for freshmen wrestlers and an open tournament brought out much material and in a few days Coach Ruggieri turned out a team to meet Andover. Experience was lacking in many of the weights but they made a good fight and at least one man scored. From that meet on the interest increased and the freshmen closed their season with a win over the Northeastern yearlings.

ORGANIZATIONS

1155 Lamont

THE Tufts Musical Clubs comprise the singers and instrumentalists who represent the college at public concerts throughout the East. This year there were forty men chosen for the combined clubs. This thirty-ninth season of the clubs was curtailed somewhat by academic difficulties of several members. During the Easter vacation the clubs made a circuit of southern New England. In a normal year thirty to fifty concerts are given, and in 1923, the clubs visited New York and Washington.

The reputation of the Musical Clubs has always been that of one of the best in the Northeast, and has helped establish Tufts as the "singing college." The program is changed entirely every second year, and minor changes are constantly being made. The clubs have a large repertoire, and at concerts generally mix classical with comic and college songs, including as well several readings. The reputation of the clubs has been considerably enhanced in past years by such soloists as "Harry" O'Brien and "Eddie" Burns. This year the solo parts were carried by Leo G. Lyons '27, George P. Nye '28, C. G. Newton and P. O. Killam.

The activities of the clubs "on the road" are by no means confined to musical and forensic achievements, as will be seen in the increased volumes of sweet-scented mail that burden the college postman after a successful tour. Every year the clubs unearth several veteran home-wreckers, and usually a couple of habitual train-missers are included in the personnel.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra has musical scores for several Tufts songs, and on the occasion of the annual "Pops" Night at Symphony Hall, which this year takes place on the night before Class Day, will play the music for the Glee Club's rendering of several pieces.

The direction of the Clubs is yearly in charge of Professor Leo R. Lewis.

THE purpose of this Council is to promote good fellowship among the fraternal organizations of the College and regulate all matters of inter-fraternity concern.

The membership of this organization is composed of one member from each of the two upper classes in each of the recognized fraternities.

The activities of the Council this year have been confined to the preparation and discussion of rushing rules, though no definite action has been taken toward changing the open rushing system. The Council supervises intra-mural sports.

THE COLLEGE GOLF COURSE

IN 1923 the college announced its intention of establishing a six-hole golf course for the use of students and faculty members. Construction was begun by college labor and student teams of workers and by the late spring of '23, the greens and tees were nearly completed. The course was opened in October 1924, Professor Givler driving the first ball. A committee of faculty members and students supervises the greens and lays down the rules of the course.

BIOLOGY CLUB

THIS organization is not, strictly speaking, a club, but is conducted along the lines of a seminar, having meetings whenever it is deemed advisable — usually every two weeks — at which time topics of general biological interest are presented by members of that department to any and all of those who may be interested. Another year will undoubtedly see a duly organized Biology Club.

COSMOS CLUB

THE Cosmos Club is composed of a group of sixteen students of both Tufts and Jackson, who meet frequently during the year for the purpose of discussing and debating matters of national, international, social and political interest.

Members of the Club are elected at the end of each year on the basis of scholastic standing in social science courses and interest shown in the programs of the Club.

The officers are: President, Francis Henry Russell '26; Vice-President, Idylla Florence Gould '25; Secretary, Doris Herrick Cochrane '26; Treasurer, Joseph Harrison '26.

The members are: Marion G. Haff '25, Marjorie B. Gulick '25, Hertha M. Cordts '27, Agnes E. Schilt '25, Margaret L. Smith '25, Ruth E. Whitten '25, George W. Barsky '27, Lawrence M. Curtis '25, James E. Nickerson '27, Clarence A. Roberts '26, Alexander Sidman '26, Nathan M. Singerman '25, Donald M. Thompson '26.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

FORMED under departmental auspices in November 1924, this organization is in reality interdepartmental in membership. Its aims are three-fold: to supplement history work by presentations of the more basic aspects of history; to afford opportunity for presentation of historical topics both by experts and by students; and to popularize, in general, the subject matter of history.

The officers for this year are: President, J. Donald Russell; Vice-President, Joseph Harrison; Secretary-Treasurer, Doris Cochrane.

LIBERAL CLUB

THE Liberal Club was formed last November for the purpose of organizing the liberal thought of the students into effectual endeavors. The membership roll of twenty members includes those students who are interested and active in functions and thought of a liberal kind.

The Liberal Club this year conducted a college-wide questionnaire on matters of college interest with a view to determining the opinions of the student body and the faculty on a program for liberalizing college curricula and activities.

The officers for the past year were: President, Howard Davis Spoerl '25; Vice-President, Benjamin Whitesmith '26; Secretary, Owen Whitman Eames '25; Treasurer, Francis Henry Russell '26.

THE PIPERS

THIS organization came into existence in the spring of 1922, at the time the course in poetry became a part of the college curriculum, under Professor Albert H. Gilmer, and it has been the aim of The Pipers to stimulate, in the students, an interest in poetry and its creation. The present officers are: President, Carolyn Havner; Vice-President, Bernard Shelley; Secretary-Treasurer, Mary Hall.

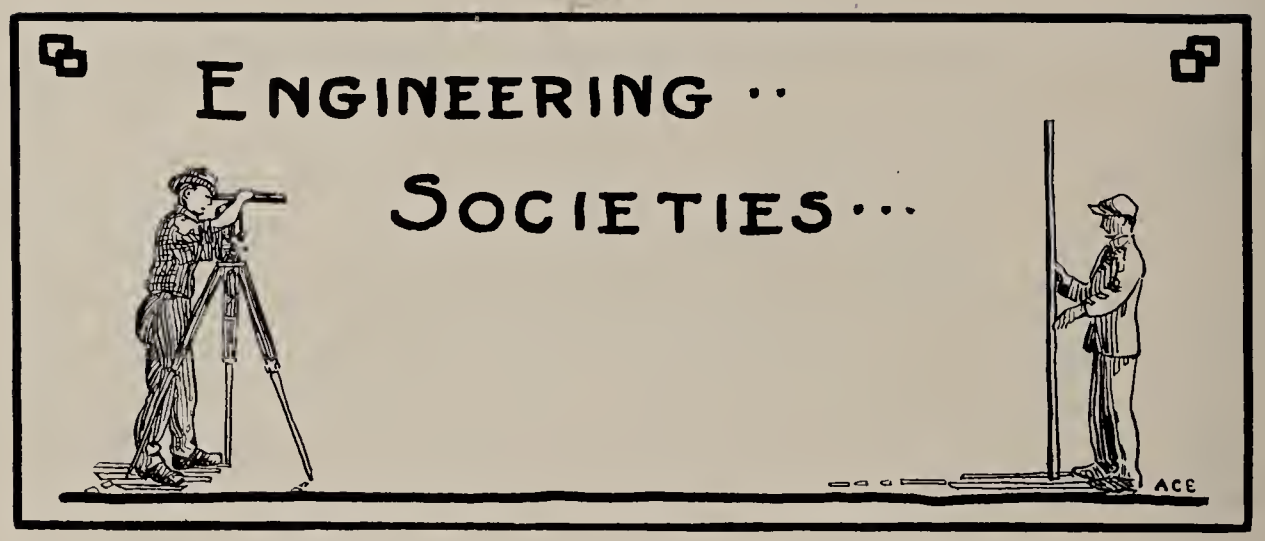
TUFTCONIC

AFTER an intermittent existence covering a period of several years the Mathematics Club was reorganized in 1924, under the name Tuftconic. Members of the club have extended their knowledge of mathematics in its higher form through the presentation of papers at the meetings. The officers for the current year are: President, Gladys M. Spencer '25; Vice-President, Merrill C. Orswell '26; Secretary, Alice H. Stolworthy '27.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY

THE Chemical Society was founded in 1900, and has since worked to further the interests of Chemistry, through the kindness of speakers who have presented papers on topics of interest.

The officers are: President, Samuel Weisberg; Vice-President, Ruth Ward; Secretary, Charles Turner; Treasurer, John Roche.



THE CIVIL ENGINEERING SOCIETY

TUFTS was among the very first colleges in the country to establish an undergraduate engineering society. "The Engineering Society of Tufts College" was founded in 1898 and has been in continuous existence since that time. It has as its object the promotion of the interests of Civil Engineering The officers are: President, Maurice N. Winslow; Vice-President, Albert A. Chernesky; Secretary, Donald H. Miller; Treasurer, Arland A. Dirlam.

A. S. M. E.

THE American Society of Mechanical Engineers is the leading and most influential organization in the world for the promotion of engineering interests, and is represented here by a Student Branch founded in 1917, which ranks highly among the seventy-eight branches in the country.

Dean Gardner C. Anthony was the first Honorary Chairman. The officers for the current year are: Honorary Chairman, Prof. C. H. Chase; Chairman, Ernest E. Leavitt; Vice-Chairman, Leroy M. Jordan; Secretary-Treasurer, Adrian Bessey.

THE RADIO SOCIETY

THE Radio Society was first founded in 1911, and re-organized in 1922, with the purpose of maintaining an adequate experimental station in the endeavor to promote the interests of radio telegraph and telephone engineering.

The officers are: President, James F. Archibald; Vice-President, Allan D. MacLeod; Secretary-Treasurer, Leroy M. Jordan.

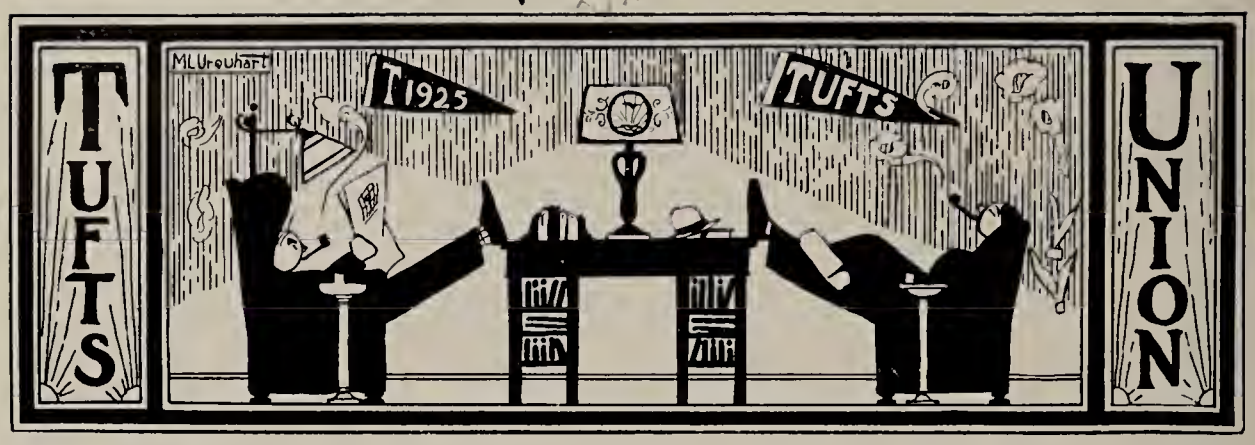
VARSITY DEBATERS

THE first debate of the year was held at Brunswick, on December 12, 1924. Tufts, supporting the affirmative, lost the decision to Bowdoin on the following question: Resolved, That the adoption of the provisions in the Immigration Act of 1924, for the exclusion of the Japanese, was the best policy.

On March 12, 1925, Tufts, on the negative, won a unanimous decision over Middlebury College. The question, debated at Tufts, was: Resolved, That Congress should have the power to pass a measure over the veto of the Supreme Court by a two-thirds vote.

The members of the team for the current year are: Francis H. Russell '26, James E. Nickerson '27, and Clarence A. Roberts '26, with Robert L. Nichols '26, and Alexander Sidman '26, as alternates.



IN the spring of 1924, a group of Ivy members and students particularly interested, conducted a drive for funds, which was successful enough to permit the foundation of a Tufts Union, with a room in Curtis Hall as the student center.

The present Union is far too small for the college needs, and another drive was undertaken this spring, with the aim of building it further. The eventual aim of the Union is a building of its own, usable as a college social and recreational center, which would be used by both men and women, and would have a common auditorium for dramatic productions.

1925 JUMBO BOOK

THE Tufts Weekly is the official student news publication, published every Wednesday during the college year by students. Freshmen compete for positions on the News staff, and later rise by promotion to editorships. The paper is, besides a news bulletin for hill activities, a medium for the expression of student opinion. Some of the notable movements of the past two years in which the Weekly has had a part are the formation of a student union, the creation of a democratic student government, and the abolition of rigid freshman rules.

The present board of editors of the Weekly comprises:

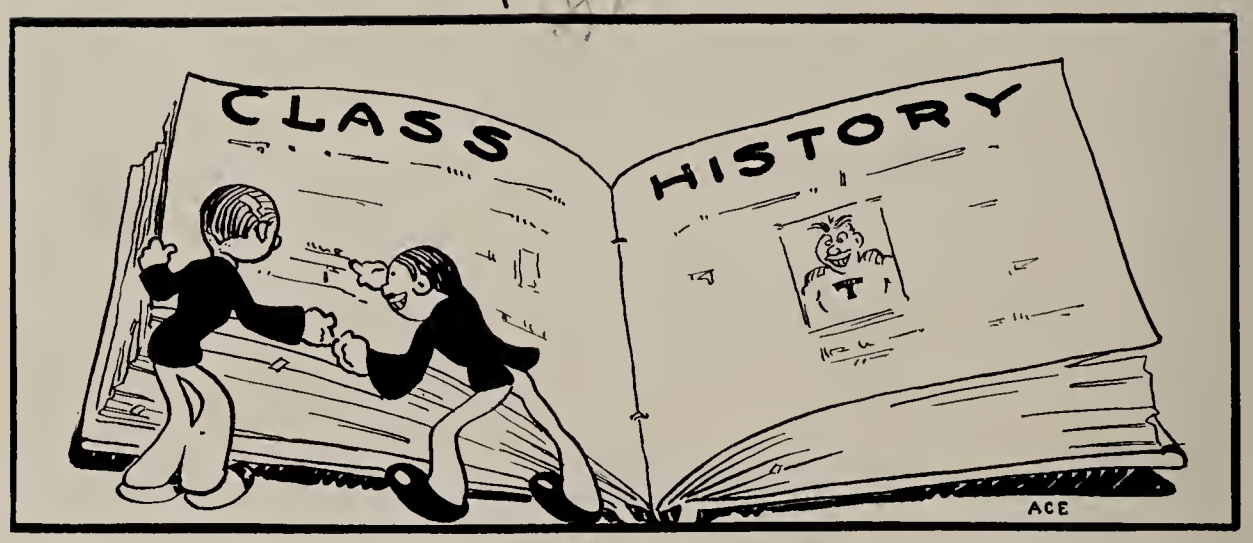
TUFTS WEEKLY STAFF

The Weekly is officially managed by the Tufts Publishing Association, the officers of which are: President, J. Donald Russell '25; Vice-President, C. J. Odenweller III '26; Secretary, Howard D. Spoerl '25; Charles H. Gray '25, Frank H. Sargent '25, J. Louis Keegan, Joseph T. Ballard '25, Joseph J. Harrison '26.

Students who serve on the editorial staff of the Weekly for three years are voted a watch charm in recognition of their work.

THE IVY BOOK

PRACTICALLY every college publishes annually a hand-book of information about the activities, rules and customs of the college, which it calls by various names, usually designating it unofficially as the "freshman bible." Tufts prints such a book in the Ivy Book. The Ivy society takes this work as one of its tasks, and delegates a board of three editors to handle it. This year the editing was done by Raymond L. Wilson, as editor, assisted by Dana P. Fogg, Jr. The business management of the book was handled by Donald H. Miller.



THE year 1921, and the month September, of that year, will be recalled with sad musings as the time when nearly two-hundred naive individuals, dwelling in nearly as many parts of the Northeast and New England, severed (temporarily in some cases) the old home ties, took a farewell look at the old oaken bucket, kissed the only girl good-by, murmuring meanwhile certain tritisms about "coming back unchanged," and looked carefully to the safety-pins fastening the pants pocket.

A week later, heads still slightly over-size and ringing with the golden prophecies of School Superintendents from Attleboro to Zoar, the same two hundred were subjected to a process of reduction from $7\frac{3}{4}$ size to $6\frac{1}{2}$ or less, by contact with the subtle alchemy of sophomore rules and methods. But the supersize sky-pieces were carefully embalmed in moth balls, for use in the senior year, and the business of being a collegian began in earnest.

The second year began unauspiciously, but the arrival of Armistice day found Portlun's carnival crowds augmented by several hundred Tufts cohorts. Again they returned with a heart-breaking defeat, but one and all "saw the sights," and rocked the boat. The year ended in a blaze of glory and a wild hullabaloo in staid old Boston, for the consecutive victories over Holy Cross and Harvard at the end of the baseball season required celebrating in fit and lively fashion.

Exalted to the ranking of juniors, though slightly decimated in numbers, the class of '25 crept on, and lived up to the true junior tradition by celebrating its festive week-end under umbrellas. That year the unprecedented number of eight persons attended the Ivy Oration. The orator was too startled to speak, but his remarks were published later serially, in the Boston newspapers, and nobody missed them. The class established itself as a candidate for the Tufts Hall of Fame, by voting to publish a JUMBO BOOK, and abolishing the Junior Day cap. The latter good deed was cancelled later when the class decreed canes for Junior Day, and the evil results of the former appear now for your perusal.

"R. U. R."

Karel Kapek's futuristic melodrama, "R. U. R.," was given in December 1923, by Three P's, its first production in Boston. The presentation was marked by the artistic finish of the speaking parts and the vividness of the stage effects, which were a large part of the production.

"ROMEO AND JULIET"

One of the outstanding amateur productions of last year in Boston, according to press comments, was the Masque's production of "Romeo and Juliet." The production was the creation of many, since no phase of it was neglected or over-stressed. The picturesque imaginativeness of the scenes, splendid costuming, and the remarkably effective lighting, were as much a part of the success of the tragedy as was the brilliant performance of the cast, especially Miss Havner and Mr. Brocco in the leading roles. Miss Havner's portrayal of "Juliet" was a work of amateur art comparable to the professional achievements of more experienced talent, and Mr. Brocco's "Romeo" was a thoroughly satisfactory companion for "Juliet."

"CHILDREN OF THE MOON"

Mrs. A. H. Gilmer

The first production of the current year was Martin Flavin's "Children of the Moon," which, while not the remarkable production that "R. U. R." and "Romeo and Juliet" were, maintained the standard of Tufts dramatics. This play was given under the direction of the Masque Society of Jackson. Miss Frances Austin '26, took the leading part, that of the granddaughter under the spell of moon-madness, in a manner that bodes well for her success in forthcoming productions. Owen W. Eames played the companion part in his usual able manner. The play brought to light some new talent in Mr. Orazio E. Vacarro '27, as the old man, and Mr. Orrin McCorkle as the pompous family physician. "Children of the Moon" was not epochal, but held up the standard. Others participating in this production were Marguerite G. Pearman '26, M. Wilma Koelsch '25, J. W. Reddie '27, and B. R. Mills, '28.

FOUR ONE-ACT PLAYS

On February 19th, the Three P's Society initiated a new policy in Hill dramatics by presenting a quartet of one-act plays, using in the casts only players with no previous record in Tufts dramatics. The playlets chosen were Eugene O'Neil's "In the Zone," Alice Gerstenberg's "The Pot-Boiler," "Illuminati in Drama Libre," and Lord Dunsany's "Glittering Gate."

This program called for some staging ingenuity and enlarged interest in the work of the dramatic department, by drawing upon hitherto unused talent. Several of the actors in these productions revealed potentialities which should carry them into larger work of the societies later. The policy may be continued, and each year see the experiment repeated.

In the spring, three plays were given at the Jackson Gymnasium, which were entirely the products of Tufts undergraduate endeavor. Two one-act plays by L. M. Dawson, and a third by R. B. Williams, coached and staged by the authors and student assistants, were successfully presented.

FROM "IN THE ZONE"

"THE HAIRY APE"

Prof. Leo R. Lewis

On May 1st, Pen, Paint, and Pretzels gave its main production of the year, O'Neil's "The Hairy Ape," with Nathan Share taking the major part of Robert "Yank" Smith. The part of "Long" was taken by R. B. Williams, "Paddy" by O. C. Vaccaro, and the I. W. W. secretary by H. J. Cohen. The second engineer was played by Robert Nichols.

"The Hairy Ape" offered another challenge to those concerned with problems of staging, and the response was good. With the limitations of the Jackson gym always before them, the stage managers of this production carried through their work to complete success.

The Masque's main production of the year was "Mithridates," or rather a translation of the famous French play. It was remarkable in that it was the first play to be given in very recent years at Tufts which was so thoroughly a Tufts play that it practically came from the pen of a Tufts student. "Mithridates" was translated for staging here by H. D. Spoerl. Up to the time that this volume went to press, the cast had not been entirely selected. This production was under the direction of Professor Leo R. Lewis. Others on the coaching staff besides Professors Gilmer and Lewis, are Mrs. A. H. Gilmer, Professor Courtney Bruerton, and Professor Frank C. Weaver.

COMMENCEMENT

THE annual Commencement week attracts thousands of visitors to the Hill yearly, as it is made the occasion for the reunion of Tufts graduate classes, as well as the final social week and formal graduation of seniors. Class Day, following last examinations and the "Pop" concert, is featured by last chapel exercises, spreads, Tree Exercises, and dancing in the evening. All classes participate.

Alumni Day features alumni meetings and dinners, and the last baseball game of the season at the Oval. The Baccalaureate sermon is given Sunday in the chapel, followed Monday by formal graduation exercises in the tent. The last adieu to the Hill is said by seniors at the Promenade on Monday night, June 15th.

THE JUMBO ART DESIGNS

ART motifs in the opening section of this book, and the border design on every page, are taken from architectural features of several campus buildings.

The view eastward from the Rez inspired the fly-leaf design, the Chem lab contributed the title page and frontispiece, and the dedication panels are similarly derived. The design of the staff page will be found in the doorway to Eaton library, while the two lions of our title page may be noted staring across the quadrangle from the steps of Barnum. The rest of the title page motif is from Miner Hall, while the border is taken from the Library cornice and the Senior panel obviously represents the chapel tower. The aim throughout has been to make this book a Tufts book.

THE FOOTBALL DANCE

THE close of the football season every fall is celebrated by the college at a dance in the gym. Decorations for the occasion are particularly timely, the football motif predominating. Tower Cross Society sponsors this affair. The notable feature of the Tower Cross dance is the election of captain and manager of the next year's team.

THE BASKETBALL DANCE

SIMILAR to the Tower Cross football dance, have been the Ivy basketball dances. During the season, several games are followed by informal dancing, and the wind-up of the basketball year is celebrated at a dance, managed by the Ivy society. At this time officers of the next team are selected.

THE day of all days for Juniors, occurs in early May, when the Junior Prom precedes a day of color and activity on the campus. The Prom, for which the gym is extensively decorated, with unusual lighting effects, is followed on Saturday by a program of events of interest to all classes. The underclass song contests, Ivy Oration, a tennis match, fraternity spreads, Horribles' parade, baseball game and a play in the evening comprise the day's features.

ATHLETICS

TEN straight wins in two years tells the story of Jackson Varsity Basketball. This year, seasoned players have been developed by expert coaching into a fast team excelling any previously produced. The 45-5 score resulting from a practice game with the Boston City Club augured well for the 1925 season. The opening game at Wheaton gave only a hint of the smooth team-work and brilliant playing which showed itself when Brown was severely trimmed at the Goddard Gymnasium, and which reached its apex when the Radcliffe sextette, victors over Posse and B. S. P. E., came out on the tail end of a 31-22 score.

VARSITY TEAM OF 1925

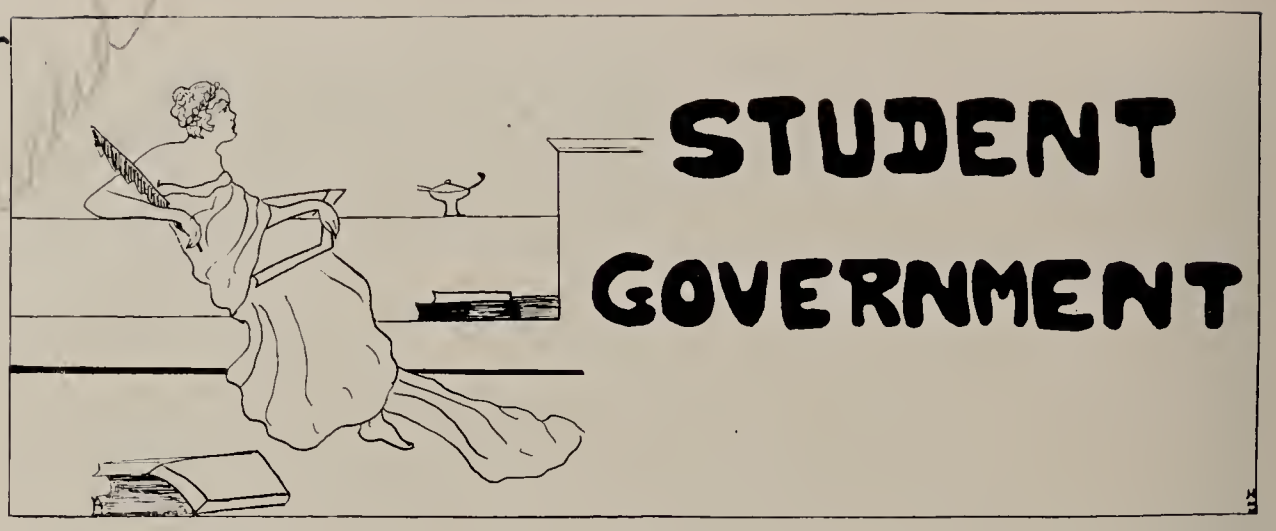
CLASS BASKETBALL

CLASS basketball teams are supported, and they stage the battles for the class championship. At these contests the varsity players learn how it feels to be a spectator, and provide the heavy vocal support. The Championship wrested by 1925 from 1922, was held by 1925 in 1922 and 1923. In 1924 the title was won by 1927.

HOCKEY

HOCKEY, for the past two seasons, has not been a varsity sport, but it has been kept vigorously alive through the inter-class hockey games. This year, with a Hockey field and with the splendid coaches secured through the A. A., class teams of an unusual calibre have been developed. It is prophesied that next year, the combination of expert coaching, promising material and an improved field, will result in a Jackson Varsity Hockey Team.

In the interclass games the seniors beat the juniors 1-0. The freshmen fought the Sophomores to a scoreless tie, which necessitated a second game in which the freshmen won a 2-1 victory. The survivors, the seniors and the freshmen, failed to determine the winner when, by a last minute goal, the freshmen made the score 1-1. Owing to weather conditions the decisive game has been postponed.



IN the spring of 1924 the Student Government of Jackson College was reorganized. At this time the rules and regulations were overhauled and modified, the idea being to give more freedom and added individual responsibility, on a basis of scholastic standing. Heretofore privileges were given entirely according to classes, now the scale varies also with the individual's scholastic rating. The change is popular with the student body and seems to be working its way to success.

The object of this organization is to encourage self-control, responsibility, and loyalty, in the student body.

JACKSON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

IN September 1913, the Jackson Athletic Association was organized, taking the place of the Advisory Committee on Women's Athletics, a committee of the All Around Club, which had supervised Jackson athletics.

All interclass contests are conducted under the auspices of the Athletic Association, which arranges schedules, secures coaches, referees, equipment, etc. Each class has a basketball, baseball, hockey, and track team; and a varsity basketball team is always supported. Supplementing this is a varsity hockey or tennis team—the choice being optional and varied. In some years all three sports have been included among varsity athletics.

It was first contested for in 1921-22.

1922-23 won by 1925
1923-24 won by 1925

The officers of the Athletic Association are: Ruth Ward, President; Sylvia Kasdan, Vice-President; Regina Grenier, Secretary; Gladys Spencer, Treasurer.

SENIOR SCAMPERS

APPROPRIATELY on April first, Jackson 1925 revived the Senior Scampers, a vaudeville satire on the faculty and the student body. The Social Committee, aided and abetted by the entire class, staged the side-splitting performance. Authors are almost as numerous as those of a Broadway musical show and some of the fun just wrote itself. The Boxing Match may be accredited to Marian Haff and Wilma Koelsch, Mrs. McLoud to Carolyn Havner, Metcalf Scene to Wilma Koelsch and Carolyn Havner, and Photos by White to Wilma Koelsch. Thanks to Edgar Wood '26 and Bud Carpenter '24, the Cute Co-ed was introduced to the college.

CLASS PLAYS

CLASS plays are given each year by each of the two underclasses, and, since their members are barred from Masque and the Three P's productions, these plays serve as a sort of testing and training for later dramatic endeavors. It has become the custom for the sophomore class to give the Jackson Day play. Anatole France's "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," produced by 1926, and coached by Professor Weaver, was most favorably received last Jackson Day. The freshmen of last year, 1927, presented "Neighbors"; and our present youngsters, 1928, gave two interesting one-act plays.

DOE DANCE

ONCE each year the Jackson Gymnasium is the scene of a brilliant social function attended exclusively by the students of Jackson, and observed, the whispers have it, by Tufts — at Munro's. This affair is the Doe Dance, sponsored by the All Around Club. The Does attend in pairs and it is the occasion for fancy dress — the requisites being the ridiculous and the startling.

BABY PARTY

THE Damoclian Sword hanging over the head of the Jackson freshman is that potent remark, "Wait till the Baby Party." This party is the concluding event of Baby Day, on which day, by removing hairpins, paint, powder, and curls, and adding a jaunty green bow, the freshmen must for once appear as sweetly youthful and as meekly humble as their elders and betters, the sophomores, would have them. Costumes in keeping with the youthful simplicity of their coiffures are worn by the yearlings, while the sophs pose as nurses for these fractious charges. The seniors, suddenly grown gray and infirm, are the grandparents, and the juniors, garbed as uninvited guests and poor relations, provide any comedy relief that may be needed in addition to the show staged by the sophs in which the furious frosh are the principal actors.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

THE Pan-Hellenic Council of Jackson was instituted several years ago and has been active in fraternity life ever since. The object of this association is,

1. To improve the conditions of fraternity life and inter-fraternity relationship, and to coöperate with the college authorities in all efforts to improve social and scholastic standards.
2. To fix the date of pledge day.
3. To formulate the rules for the rushing season.

The Council is composed of eight members — two from each fraternity.

THE ALL AROUND CLUB

THE All Around Club, founded in 1897, is a social organization open to all the women of Jackson. Every spring the Club gives an informal dance, the only function of its kind open to all the students of Jackson. The Jackson reception to Tufts freshmen is an annual event early in the fall, and is given under the auspices of the All Around Club. The club also runs Jackson Day for sub-freshmen early in the spring.

FRIENDSHIP

A ruddy drop of manly blood
The surging sea outweighs,
The world uncertain comes and goes;
The lover rooted stays.
I fancied he was fled, —
And, after many a year,
Glowed unexhausted kindliness.
Like daily sunrise there.
My careful heart was free again,
O friend, my bosom said,
Through thee alone the sky is arched,
Through thee the rose is red;
All things through thee take nobler form,
And look beyond the earth,
The mill-round of our fate appears
A sun-path in thy worth.
Me too thy nobleness has taught
To master my despair;
The fountains of my hidden life
Are through thy friendship fair.

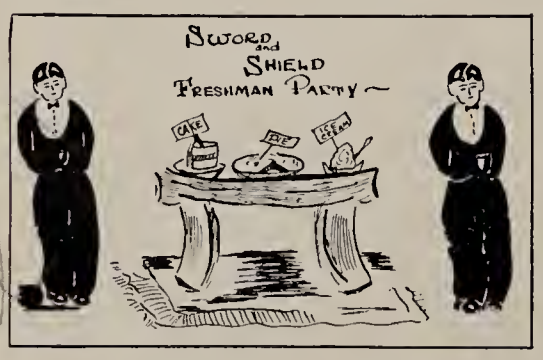
1924—25

September 16th — On this day calamity overtook many households throughout New England and the East, and full many firesides were forsaken. The lawn-mower and the hoe were abandoned for the slide-rule and the forceps. Many tears at parting from the old homestead.

September 17th — "The Little Shepard of Kingdom Coin" had his innings. Stranger giving the name of Virgil Greengrass found in a dazed condition walking around in Park Street turnstile. Was directed to Tufts college. Student Council discarded the paddle for the palm. After this freshmen are almost as good as upperclassmen.



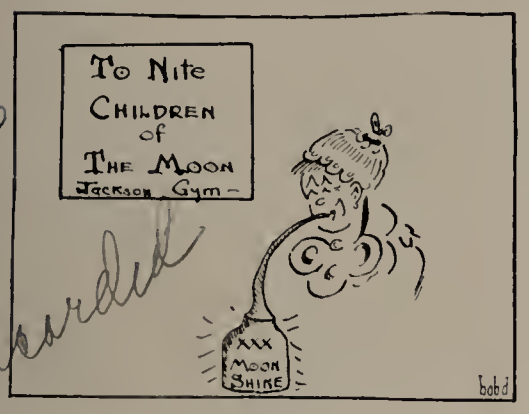
September 25th — Freshman discovered who remembered names of more than six of the fraternity men he had met this week. Pledged at once to Phi Beta Kappa. His name was Addison Sims, of Seattle.

October 6th—Consternation on the Hill, accompanied by indigestion and sleeplessness. 1928 beats the sophs and the milkmen's union by a few hours and breakfasts at the Westminster.

October 8th — More indigestion. 1927 holds its first successful banquet at the Buckminster. One speaker becomes famous by forgetting to use that gag about "this is the best class, etc."

October 10th — Serious epidemic of endo-carditis. Jackson All Around Club received Tufts freshmen at first dance. Dean Wren overcome with surprise at record-breaking size of freshman class.

October 11th — Dean Wren's condition improved. Tufts Weekly breaks all records by coming out one day late. All hands advised to "sail on." Tomorrow is the birthday of that "geographical gentleman, Colombo."



October 15 — Hotels Westminster and Buckminster open again, having been able to secure new dining-room furniture and cutlery. Henson reports replacement of all turf torn up in the jams.

October 25th — Day of the Great Hejira. Tufts met New Hampshire at Durham but failed to throw the "bull."

November 1st — Gloom descends over 34-1. Automatic machine installed for waking up drowsy chemists in the rows between one and thirty. Prof. Gilmer issues denial that production of "Children of the Moon" is impracticable because of lack of moonshine hereabouts. Rehearsals will go on.

November 8th — Cheers from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore.! Jumbo does the impossible by beating Bodun. Undergraduates mob trains, hurrying back to Tufts for Russell lecture next day.

November 18th — Football squad refuses to practice. All found present at faculty tea, badly soaked and looking crumby. Consternation in the ranks when Greenway refused a fourth dish of ice-cream. Faculty will act later.

November 19th — Academic honors awarded. Four football players, two Musical Clubs leaders and an editor elected to Phi Beta Kappa. (Bughouse Fables No. 275643). But read on!

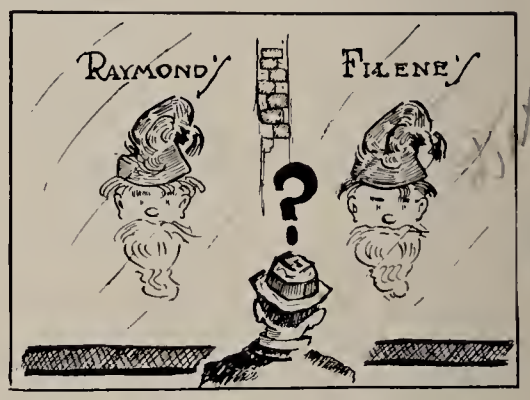
November 20th — Jackson seniors and frosh battle at Hockey on the old campus at noon. Both teams attired in plus four bloomers. Cafeteria files petition in bankruptcy for lack of business.

December 3d — Dean Wren publishes his college ranking list. Well-known campus lion threatened with extermination for remarking, "The higher they are, the ranker they are." Cosmos will hold a forum on this question.

December 10th — Great excitement. Two Tufts rooters return from Cleveland; their car is still missing. Musical Clubs discontinue schedule, due to scholastic handicaps of members. Citizens of towns on the touring schedule breathe sighs of relief. Local belles along the line fear they will get no chance for a ring this year.

December 15th — Half-holiday declared. Jackson student found an oyster in cafeteria scallops. Bowdoin defeats Tufts debaters at Brunswick. Tufts captain says "we could have won all right, but we weren't accustomed to the floor."

December 20th — Pop Clark returns elated from town. Says he saw both Santa Claus and his brother. One was at Filene's and the other at Raymond's. Faculty expresses skepticism. Cosmos will hold a forum soon on the question. Vacation begins.



January 6th — No one late for classes. Everyone shaken out of bed by earthquake.

January 21st — Mid-years commence. Every bookworm has his day, and the rest of us have six nights of it.

January 24th — This day was epochal. Total eclipse viewed in Boston. Residents of Somerville who did not have smoked glasses came to Ballou to watch the eclipse through the windows.

January 28th — Some sad partings. Chuckles of glee from both Deans' offices. Wakes were held at all fraternity houses. History is vague here. Recurrence of the total eclipse of January 24th.

February 28th — Second earthquake shakes the Hill. Jackson Juniors and Freshmen give dance at the gym. The minor quake was not noticed.

March 3d — Great enthusiasm. Weekly attacks compulsory chapel, abetted and opposed both by faculty and students. So much knocking puts the bell out of business. Classes disorganized.

March 20th — Invasion by the basketball players. Observer finds that officials outnumber spectators in the gym.

April 1st — Nothing happened. Fooled you that time!

April 15th — Spring recess begins. Students present petition to Park Commissioner for more benches in Middlesex Fells.

May 1st — No further record. Jumbo reported loose and preparing to come out and meet his book. Editors return from rest cure.

And now the sky god, Phoebus,
Flings his banners to the west wind;
First falls the cloudy veil before his face,
Then silently close his castle gates.
Black shadows on the earth —
Then night, dew-dripping, creeps,
Last night of our high hopes.
Tomorrow —
Brings life's test.
So while ye may,

The Sign of Careful Workmanship

FOR nearly one hundred years the Andover Press has been serving the printing buyers of New England with the product of its careful workmanship.

Books, catalogs, folders and small printed pieces numbering into the millions have come from its presses.

Today, it places at your service a modern equipment and a corps of highly trained workmen who have made their product known by their ability to produce something "a little bit better."

The Pictorial Review emblem of success

During the summer months for the past seven years more than one hundred Tufts Men have represented Pictorial Review.

Their success has been phenomenal. Pictorial Review is proud of its Tufts men, and the financial assistance that it has been able to give them.

We are anxious that coming generations at Medford will continue to keep the campus word—"Good morning, Madam."

And enjoy the advantages of a Pictorial Review scholarship.
